Dear Parent/Carer

As you will be aware, the Met Office has issued amber and yellow weather warnings for Perth and Kinross on Friday 24 January 2025, as well as a red weather warning for other parts of Scotland.

This is likely to cause considerable disruption throughout the day.

As a precaution, we have taken the difficult decision to close all Perth and Kinross Schools and Early Learning and Childcare Settings tomorrow.

UHI Perth will also be closing its campus, which means pupils will be unable to attend placements there on Friday.

We understand the impact this will have on parents and carers but the safety of our children and young people is our priority.

Remote learning will be provided for pupils. We expect schools to be open as normal on Monday, 27 January 2025.

Further updates will be provided through Perth and Kinross Council's social media channels and website. If there are any further updates regarding schools we will contact you directly.

Yours sincerely

David Macluskey
